

DISASTER AT SEA.

LOSS OF SHIP WILLIAM AND MARY.

The brig Reuben Carver, Capt. Forbes, arrived the other day from Sagua la Grande, having on board Capt. Stenson and six of the crew of the ship William and Mary, of Bath, Me., which was lost on the night of the 3d inst., on her passage from Liverpool to New Orleans, with nearly all on board. The following report is made by Capt. Stenson:

"At 2 A.M. on the 3d of May, strong breezes from the south-east, and cloudy weather.

"Passed the Hole in the Wall at 12 meridian; Stirrup Key bore south, ten miles distant. The weather subsequently became thicker, and the wind increased, with a heavy sea. At sunset saw nothing of the Keys. Supposed we were well to the northward, after steering W. by N., from 12 o'clock meridian. At 8 P.M. supposing ourselves to the N. and W., by the Great Isaacs, kept the ship W. by S., and commenced heaving the lead. At 8 o'clock found no bottom in twenty fathoms. At 8 15 the same. At 8 30 struck on a sunken rock, and hung about midships, with ten fathoms water all around. After beating heavily for about fifteen minutes, the vessel extricated herself, but struck immediately afterward on another rock, within a few rods of the first. After striking a few times, she again went clear of the rocks, when the anchors were let go, and the boats prepared for launching.

In the meantime the passengers were set to work at the pumps, but could not keep the ship free from water. At midnight the water was four feet deep in the hold. At 4 A.M. weather black and squally, with a heavy sea, eight feet in the hold; both pumps going; 7 A.M., the water had increased to ten feet, and the ship was going down. The mates and crew were placed in the boats, the other two boats having been broken after launching. At 8 o'clock left the ship, and in a few minutes she went down, the Great Isaacs bearing E.S.E. seven miles distant.

"After having left the ship some hours, saw a bark, apparently bound for Europe, heave to in the direction of the long and life boats, and presume that she was engaged in picking them up.

"The William and Mary left Liverpool with 208 passengers, including their cook and steward. They nearly all went down with the vessel, with two of the seamen, and the ship's steward."

WRECK OF THE BARK WILLIAM AND MARY.

WATERSPOUTS IN THE STRAITS OF MALACCA.

I SEND you the accompanying Sketch of three Waterspouts seen by the Princess Charlotte on the morning of the 7th November, while standing down the Straits of Malacca, on her voyage to the east of war in China. The phenomenon represented is of rare occurrence in this part of the world. When it does happen, the number of distinct columns of water is usually restricted to one or two. In the present instance the columns were remarkably well formed, and continued to maintain their full volume for a very considerable time. The sky was much overcast, and peals of thunder rolled among the clouds at the time of their appearance. They swept slowly along before the wind, gradually became attenuated, and at length vanished completely. Our voyage thus far has been a most prosperous one, the old ship—the first His kingdom, that the Gospel wa of the preacher:—"One word in c exposition of that parable. The f Luke as a text, and proceeded for He selected the account of the b dredth. A detailed black and white engraving of a three-masted sailing ship, likely a clipper, viewed from a high angle. The ship is shown from the side, with its complex rigging and sails visible. The hull is dark, and the upper decks are lighter. The ship is sailing on a calm sea, with a small boat visible in the distance. The sky is filled with dark, swirling clouds, and a small, dark, crescent-shaped object is visible in the upper right corner.
